

AMP™

Secure. Customizable. Efficient.

Many companies manage their projects using email systems, spreadsheets, CRMs, or various other tools. This can cause issues in security as well as make it difficult to organize and track eDiscovery, legal services, and litigation support projects. That's why we built AMP™.

Workflow, Security, & Customization

The system is customizable, and stores everything that happens across the duration of a project. The product out of the box can be completely adjusted to your own needs and specifications.

AMP is very process driven, in that once tasks are created, they can be assigned, given a required date and the queue is then updated with necessary tasks and filters on. This also allows users to pick up and work on individual tasks where they left off, or hand them off to another person.

Additionally, from a quality control (QC) perspective, tasks are required to be done in the correct sequence; ensuring critical steps are always followed.

Legility AMP

What is AMP™?

AMP™, or Advanced Management Platform, is our all-in-one legal services and litigation support software that brings new levels of command and control to the discovery case management process.

- Project managers can perform work without having to leave the system
- Centralized system, allowing for quick reference by every part of an organization
- Workflows to help build a guaranteed repeatable process
- Task allocation, auto alerts, to-do lists and proactive monitoring allow for effective management and oversight of large teams and complex projects
- Access to tasks, milestones, and assets in one place, giving transparency of data, visibility of progress and a full audit trail of activity
- Additional legal and/or litigation support services provided and performed by Legility team members

The system also has measures to prevent more tasks being added to jobs that have been closed. And, system-created work logs record time spent on tasks, so a work log can be generated to bill clients, and time can be reported on, with a foolproof auditing feature.

An internal messaging system allows users to perform work and communicate without having to leave the system. The tool will send automatic email and pop-up notification that allows users to see projects assigned to them, without having to check their email.

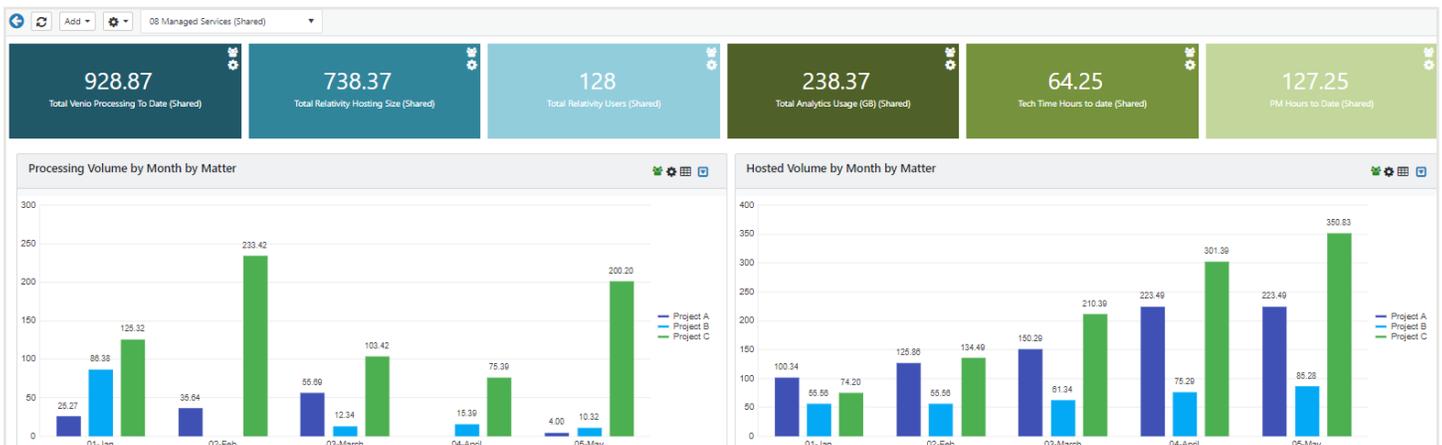

Media Tracking

Data protection and integrity is central to our business, and top of mind for our clients. We establish and maintaining a clean, defensible, and auditable chain of custody for every single byte of data we are entrusted with.

While most media tracking systems lack even basic functionality, Legility uses a systemized approach that adds new media, defines the type of media, when it was received and by whom — updated automatically and intelligently. The proprietary system then integrates with AMP, our case management software and workflow portal, so that we can track every single file from ingestion to processing, through early case assessment (ECA) and review, and on to production.
