

Contracting Contracts

Legility for Commercial Contract Matters

A protocol for selecting and securing flexible legal talent.

You're overworked. And understaffed. With a high volume of daily, routine contracts that have you overwhelmed.

The status quo is no longer an option. With higher risk contracts and other strategic matters requiring timely resolutions, client loyalties—and revenues—are at stake.

You need help. Professional legal help. And you need it fast.

You can hire more attorneys, but that can be cost prohibitive. Not to mention, the volume of this type of work fluctuates, with seasonal spikes that make resource management unpredictable at best.

There's a better way. A simplified yet powerful and efficient way to address mounting commercial contract matters.

Offer

Legility

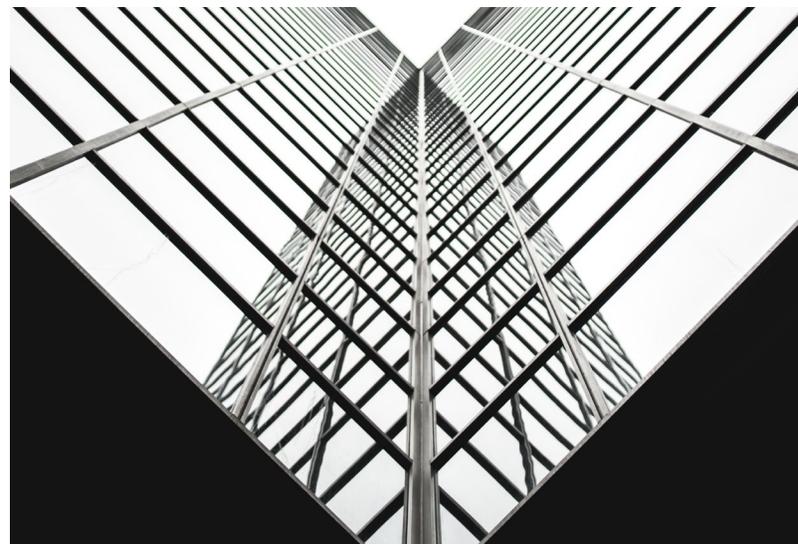

Since the turn of the millennium, Legility has provided flexible legal talent for commercial contract matters. Our team of experienced corporate attorneys draws on highly specialized knowledge to support the most nuanced—and routine—contract work.

Expertise: When it comes to overseeing commercial contracts, experience counts, which means every candidate we place meets our stringent standards for fluency in both subject matter as well as processes.

Our roster of 1,000+ attorneys bring deep in-house and general counsel experience, as well as specialized experience in various legal practice areas, including employment, technology, cybersecurity, and more.

They understand the workflow issues that attorneys face on a day-to-day basis, and integrate seamlessly with existing legal staff, ensuring every project unfolds without disruption.

The result? Your in-house counsel can focus on internal business, while a Legility contracts expert becomes your dedicated resource, offering quick, 24-hour turnaround on most basic contract matters.

Consideration

Efficient: Our flexible legal talent comes at a significant cost savings. With hourly rates that average one-third the cost of law firm attorneys with equivalent experience, our team of commercial contracts experts will provide you with the expertise you need at a price that looks good on any bottom line.

Flexible: With Legility flexible legal talent, you won't leave hours on the table. Pay by the hour, week, or month—whatever aligns best for your particular circumstances. If you decide to pursue flat fee billing and change course a month or two down the line, we'll continually revise an arrangement that makes (dollars and) sense for your team.

Relationship-Based: When you partner with Legility, you partner with a firm committed to understanding your business and its culture, as we recommend only those candidates who will thrive in your environment. While experience always counts, there are myriad intangibles that determine whether a hire is not just right but is right for you.

Acceptance

Hiring Legility legal talent is transparent and straightforward:

1 Connect
Call, write or even stop by our office. We'll arrange a convenient consultation time to discuss your needs.

2 Engage
We'll assign a dedicated Legility partner who will discuss your business and legal requirements.

3 Propose
Within 48 hours (quicker for existing clients), we'll send you a carefully prepared list of lawyers whose background and experience align with your project needs. Each attorney's profile will include relevant information, including years of experience, specializations and certifications, availability and cost. Select only those whom you would like to interview or hire.

4 Screen (optional)
The professionals you selected in step 3 will be available for your personal screening. Each will be thoroughly briefed on your needs and project scope, confirming that they are interested and available for work. After the screening process, identify which attorney(s) you would like to join your team.

5 Begin
We take care of the back-end onboarding of every hire, which includes a thorough debriefing of your company culture, distribution of necessary technology and equipment, credentialing, and any necessary kick-off calls. The result? Every lawyer is acclimated and ready to work with your firm on day one.

6 Repeat
Need additional hires? Go to step 1.

Let's change the business of legal together.

legility.com | +1.888.LEGILITY (+1.888.534.4548)