

Departing Employee Program™

Secure investigations. Minimal risk.

Helping you find peace of mind in your organization.

The Legility Digital Forensics Departing Employee Program investigates computers and other electronic storage devices used by departed employees and employees suspected of computer use policy violations. These investigations may yield evidence showing IP theft, trade secret, breach of restrictive covenants, and other computer use policy violations.

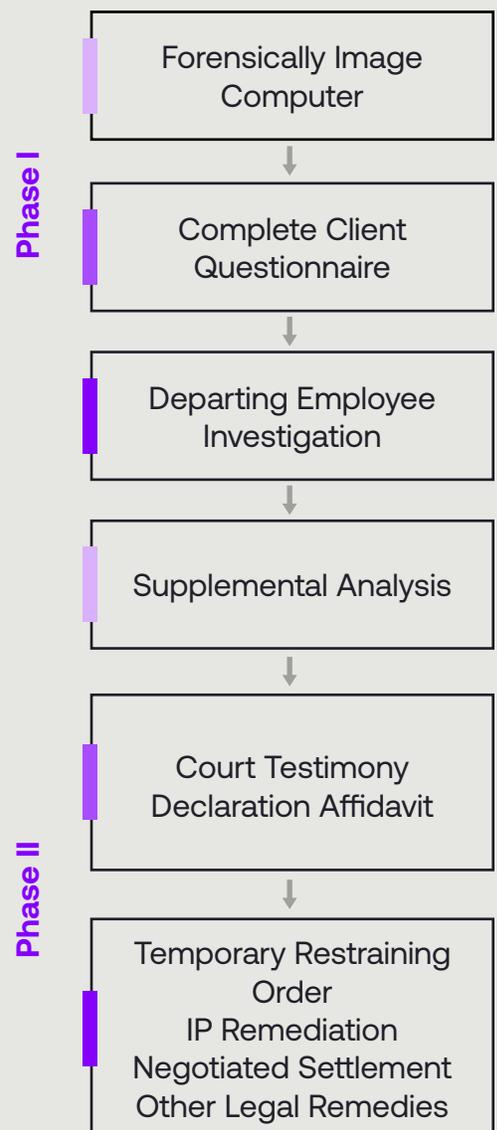

Our testifying experts focus on computer artifacts that are most likely to yield useful information for your matter. Each investigation includes a defensible forensic image of the target computer, analysis of the computer's artifacts, and a written, easy-to-follow findings report and may be accompanied by written or oral testimony as needed.

Additional or custom analysis is available upon request and where needed or recommended. Similar analyses may be performed on Mac computers where applicable.

Phase I: Departing Employee Assessment & Preliminary Investigation

- Remote Assisted Collection Kit (RACK): Establishes a screen share connection to preserve any Windows-based computer's internal storage by creating a forensic image
- Deletion Analysis: Provides a report of all user-created files that have been deleted from the device. We can target files of interest or send the report to your team for independent high-level review

Program Workflow Overview

- Email Store Recovery (Double Delete): Recovers deleted emails from OST or PST databases used to manage the custodian's email data
- File Activity Analysis: Reviews artifacts to unmask file access, modification and other movement, including potential file transfer to USB. This paints a picture of file activity during a target period
- Internet/Cloud Analysis: Investigates internet activity including Dropbox, Google Drive, chat message logs, website history, webmail usage, and social media
- Mobile Device Backup Analysis: When possible, reviews any backup history, which may uncover text messages and other artifacts
- Anti-Forensic Analysis: Each investigation includes a search for the presence of anti-forensic software to ensure our findings are accurate and well-accounted for
