

eDiscovery Review

Leveraging Market-Leading Hosting Review

Let's find the right hosted review solution together.

Legility is passionate about innovation, and our experts regularly evaluate technology suited for each phase of discovery. When it comes to hosted review, we are platform agnostic to make the best recommendation for each legal matter.

Optimize your solution through access to a diverse array of eDiscovery platforms, such as our recommended offerings: Relativity, Catalyst Insight, Everlaw, VenioOne, and our proprietary platform: Recenseo™. Each platform has been evaluated by our team to identify specific strengths and weaknesses. We also give you the flexibility to process your data in one platform and review it in another.

Legility offers a cost-effective, efficient and custom solution for every aspect of your data management needs. For a more comprehensive approach, consider storing your data securely within our Legal Hold Repository or bundling your hosted review with our Managed Review Services for the highest-quality attorney review at the lowest total cost.

Legility Recenseo™

Legility's proprietary software, Recenseo, delivers a robust and technologically advanced review environment for both law firm and corporations. It is powerful, intuitive, secure and stable. Recenseo offers the required horsepower, flexibility and function for the largest and most complex electronic discovery projects while remaining easy to learn and use.

Whether you're working as a large team of contract attorneys conducting a privilege review or a single paralegal searching for the smoking gun, Recenseo is the right solution.

Relativity

Relativity is among the most widely recognized eDiscovery software solutions. When familiarity is of the highest importance, there is no better tool for the job. Custom integrations and plug-ins allow for a wide array of additional capabilities, ensuring that all case needs are met within a single integrated solution. Legility's Relativity offering is particularly well suited to multiparty collaboration, such as joint defense groups.

Catalyst Insight

Legility's long standing partnership with Catalyst Repository Systems has yielded extensive experience in the use of machine learning for prioritization of document review. Catalyst Insight's Technology Assisted Review (TAR) engine is unmatched in the field of eDiscovery. When progressive workflows that incorporate predictive analytics are justified, there is no better solution than Catalyst.

Everlaw

Everlaw makes eDiscovery look easy. By allowing end-to-end self-service functionality, including processing and production, this platform puts the power in your hands. Everlaw's attractive and intuitive user interface coupled with complete control and autonomy empower users with a do-it-yourself mentality.

VenioOne

VenioOne is leading the charge when it comes to early case assessment (ECA). Our Venio offering puts actionable insight at your fingertips on an immediate basis, allowing you to make informed decisions when it matters most. This solution is often leveraged for data triage and investigation when metrics and reporting are of the utmost importance.

Legility Legal Hold Repository

Secure ESI Storage for Your Review

Designed with big data in mind, Legility's Legal Hold Repository (LHR) is an agile, robust and innovative solution to enterprise Information Governance and eDiscovery challenges. We ensure on-demand access to information and reporting by maintaining all data subject to litigation, investigative or regulatory inquiry in one SOC 2 secure environment. All material is de-duplicated and indexed, resulting in a searchable single-instance storage environment.

Search and select data you want to promote to review and/or advanced analytics. As your data is reviewed, key attributes like privilege calls can be propagated to future matters, reducing risk of inadvertent disclosure. Our process integrates seamlessly with traditional eDiscovery workflows so you don't have to spend excess time and money escalating data to review. This flexible solution also allows for pairing with multiple eDiscovery platforms. Our Legal Hold Repository services can be bundled with any of our eDiscovery services, or standalone with your existing review solutions.

Let's change the business of legal together.
